STATE VETERINARIANS MET AT A. & M. COLLEGE

Topics of Vital Importance to the Profession Discussed During the Meeting.

Problems vitally affecting the interests of Texas Veterinarians were discussed at the semi-annual meeting of the Texas State Veterinarians' Association which was in session at the A. and M. College Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18-19. While the attendance was not large, there being only thirty-two veterinarians present the interest was good and the good program of addresses on important questions, purely technical and otherwise, resulted in wide discussion of every topic.

The meetings of the association were conducted in the lecture rooms of the department of veterinary science at the College and the clinics which proved popular and instructive features, were held at the college veterinary hospital. It was the sense of those in attendance that in future the regular meetings of the Association should be held at the College in order that more time might be devoted to clinics at this session. Last spring the regular session was held in Fort Worth, but strong pressure will be brought to bear on the executive committee to call the next meeting of the general session for the A. and M. College.

An address by the president of the Association, Dr. R. P. Marsteller, associate professor of veterinary science at the A. and M. College, featured the opening session. Dr. Marsteller advocated a fight against contagious and infectious diseases in livestock; stricter meat and milk inspection; elimination of quack veterinarians; and education of the people to the end that they may care for their stock more intelligently. More losses in livestock are caused annually by mal-practice than by any one disease, said the president.

Dr. Marsteller said that the veterinary laws of Texas were far better than in many other States, but told of a few changes that might be made for the general betterment of the livestock industry.

Prevention of disease was another appeal which was made by the president. He told of the work that has been done by the College in the fight against hog cholera and the Texas fever and said that the losses from these two diseases together with deaths caused by Anthrax totaled a loss of approximately $300,000. With the proper co-operation with quarantine officials, enforcement of regulations, and the use of preventives this loss can be greatly curbed, he said. The address of welcome was delivered ered by President Puryear, of the College. He told of the rapid growth of the institution and said that recognizing the importance of veterinary surgery the College had hoped to offer work leading to a degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. Failure of the State to appropriate funds for a veterinary building, however, defeated this hope.

The response was made by Dr. R. H. Hodges of Waco.

The remainder of Tuesday morning's program was purely technical. Dr. Gregory of Fort Worth, read a paper on "My Experience with Slinging," and this was followed by a lengthy discussion on the value of the sling. "Anthrax" constituted the subject of an address by Dr. H. Schmidt, of the College staff, an alumnus of the A. and M. College, and who recently returned from Germany where he studied three years in the leading veterinary schools.

In the afternoon the medicals inspected the various departments of the College, and later attended the football game between the Haskell Indians and the Texas Aggies, as the guests of the college staff.

A brief night session was held when Dr. J. J. Marek, of Brenham, read a discussion on "Bone Spavin." Dr. J. A. Holman of Taylor, was another speaker, discussing "Neurectomies and their Indications."

Wednesday morning the session was opened with a paper from Dr. J. L. Hearne, of Texarkana, on "Interstate Livestock Inspection." A discussion, precipitated by Dr. Fowler of Dallas, was concerned with uniform charges for such inspection, but no final action was taken in the matter. Dr. R. C. Dunn of the College, dealt with "Rabbies" in his paper and showed methods of conducting diagnosis. "Tetanus," by Dr. E. M. Wiggs of Tyler, closed the program of addresses.

The entire afternoon was devoted to clinics at the veterinary hospital. Lameness, hernia-roaring (wind broken animals), and other diseases prevalent in livestock were treated by experts for the instruction of the visitors.

The Association adjourned Wednesday evening early and the Veterinarians left for their homes. They pronounced the sessions very successful and seemed anxious to return to the A. and M. College.

PROGRESS PARAGRAPHS

(By Commercial Secretaries.)
Taylor is to have a new daily paper. A company capitalized at $10,000 has been chartered and the initial issue will appear in a few days.

Huntsville is increasing her sidewalk mileage materially. All the principal streets are being equipped with four foot pavement.

San Angelo nut growers are holding their nuts for higher prices. The market is glutted at this time and as a result there has been a heavy decrease in price.

Houston entertained the National Nut Growers' Association last week and delegates representing nearly every State in the Union were present. The association went on record as favoring the establishment of a National Nut Growers' Exchange and asked the Federal government to aid in the nut growing industry of America.

Corpus Christi is preparing for a big celebration to be held on Christmas day in honor of the completion of the San Antonio, Uvalde and Gulf Railway into that city. The line will connect San Antonio with the Gulf of Mexico.

Palestine is witnessing an era of building. Contract has just been awarded for a $90,000 hotel and work has started on a new court house, theatre and public library.

The Eagle will buy your old rags if they are clean.

Cole's Original Air-Tight
Wood Stove

From zero to seventy degrees Fahrenheit is a big jump—but it is an easy stunt for this remarkable heater.

Five minutes in time is all that is needed.

Think of what that means to you on a cold morning—of the time you save. No building of a new fire. You put in a fresh stick and away she goes.

That isn't all. You get a steady, controllable heat hour after hour.

Think what this means to your family—in illness prevented and doctor's bills avoided.

Think of what it means in comfort—quickly and cheaply furnished.

Then come in while it is still in your mind.

An inspection will decide the matter.

It is just the stove you need. Burns wood and lighter fuel.
